

Trinity Church Bristol: Seeking a co-worker in Sept 2019

About the church

Trinity is a new AMiE (Anglican Mission in England) church which launched publicly in February 2018. The Lord has kindly blessed us with keen Christians who want to be involved with our new gospel work.

Our aim is to bring glory to God by prayerfully preaching the Word. We long for our hallmarks to be: servant-hearted evangelism; loving one another as a church family; and “every member ministry”, where the whole family joins in with the work.

Carl Bicknell is the minister. He is 42 years old, came from Emmanuel Wimbledon where he did Cornhill in 2001-2003, he went on to get ordained in the Church of England and trained at Wycliffe Hall. During his Curacy at St. Peter's, Stapenhill he married Alex. They moved to Bristol and saw the need for more gospel churches in the city. He is a Bible man, loves the Lord and is very enthusiastic about all things Proc Trust and Cornhill!

We are looking for a suitable gospel co-worker. It is a full time job ideally suited to someone who has done a lay assistant role. This person should have the following convictions:

- A man of prayer with a close walk with the Lord and a love for His people
- Committed to expository Bible teaching as the backbone of ministry
- A clear theological mind with a sound grasp of the gospel
- Someone who is happy to preach, lead Bible studies, and meet 1-1 with students/others to read the Bible with them
- Someone comfortable with personal evangelism
- Able to deal with the dynamics of being in a fairly small church
- We cannot promise where this might lead, but it could be a stepping stone to a more senior role outside of Trinity or something which develops as we grow.

We can offer

- Guaranteed funding for 12 months minimum. Longer should be fully achievable if the ministry grows
- Training as part of the job: the candidate would be encouraged to do something like the Moore Course with supervision from Carl. Regular feedback on talks and Bible studies would be provided
- Attending something like Proclamation Trust “Younger Ministers” would be encouraged and funded
- Stipend depends on experience
